

New Transportation Plan for Terrace

Tue, 2009-12-15 16:41.

Local News

A new report calls on Terrace to provide better access for pedestrians and cyclists.

The city's Active Transportation Plan highlights potential projects such as widening bike lanes and paths on city streets and bridges along with more extravagant ideas including a pedestrian overpass across the railway.

Study author Erik Lees says installing more bike racks is one of the easier, cheaper options to consider.

The study has been referred to city staff for consideration in future projects.